

COMPANY PURPOSE

Established in 1991, Legal Publication Services produces a health and safety newsletter, books and CDs for business and government customers in the field of federal mine safety and health law and regulation.

While publishing the newsletter and the legal digesting system is the mainstay of the business, Legal Publication Services also offers significant research services on mine safety and health law. We provide timely, vital, readable business and government information with expert analysis developed through extensive contacts in and concentration on the mining industry.

Legal Publication Services staff is always available to help with problem-solving. Our plans are to continue to grow through launching new products and services for those interested in the mining industry.
